Dear [redacted]

I received your brief note of May 3 this morning and I am, of course, interested in any thoughts you may have along lines of interest to us both. I do not understand from your communication whether or not you want me to get in touche with you personally or by telephone. If you would explain this or call me [redacted] on Monday or Tuesday, preferably in the morning and reverse the charges to me as official business, I will be very glad to talk with you.

A I hear occasionally from our friend [redacted] who is now in [redacted]. He has reactivated his various licenses but I do not believe he is practicing actively. He is, however, working with his real estate and keeping vigorous and healthy as well as I can tell. I regard him as a fine and amazing type of chap and I wish he were here since he was extremely useful to our group.

Perhaps sometime in the near future I will come t[redacted] again, although at the present that is not too definite. If I do, however, I will make arrangements to talk with you. I have been traveling quite recently and expect to go overseas on a fairly long mission in mid-June so my activities are fairly limited at the present time.

In regard to your papers which you submitted long ago, all I can tell you is they are in the federal mill and as you know such things take considerable time and they, of course, are not in my department so I have no special information to offer.

It was pleasant hearing from you and since I know you must have something interesting, I hope I shall hear from you in the immediate future.

Sincerely yours,

A [redacted]
